Quartz's Onalaska Operations Will Have a New Home on August 20, 2018

SAUK CITY, Wisconsin – Quartz is excited to announce it will be moving its operations from its current Gundersen Health System location at 3190 Gundersen Drive to its new home at 2651 Midwest Drive, Onalaska, Wisconsin 54650. The name for the new location is “Seven Rivers”.

At Quartz, offering its employees the exceptional work environment they need to provide high-quality customer service to members is very important. The completely renovated and former Globe University building fits the bill perfectly. The building is owned by Gundersen Health System and leased to Quartz.

Quartz held a naming contest amongst its employees and the name “Seven Rivers” was chosen because it’s used throughout the La Crosse region and pays homage to the towering bluffs many tributary rivers and streams of the Mississippi River Valley. This newest location will be the latest addition to our other offices located in Madison, Middleton and Sauk City, Wisconsin.

“Moving Quartz’s Onalaska operations to a new location not only represents the successful transition to an integrated company, but it also gives us a fresh perspective on finding better ways to serve our communities,” said Dr. Gary Lenth, Chief Medical Officer and Executive Vice President.

No disruption in service to members is anticipated. We look forward to welcoming the community to our new home beginning August 20, 2018.
